

PHILADELPHIA DENTIST RECEIVES PRESTIGIOUS FELLOWSHIP FROM AGD

Dr. Doray was recently awarded the prestigious Fellowship Award from the Academy of General Dentistry. Fellowship is awarded to only a small percentage of dentists in the nation. It honors those who have demonstrated their continuing commitment to achieve the highest level of education and clinical skills. Fellowship in the AGD is one of the most recognizable designations within the dental profession. It symbolizes excellence in the dental profession and a commitment to providing exceptional patient care.

Attaining fellowship is a rigorous process that requires the completion of 500 hours of continuing education, three years of membership in the AGD and passing a comprehensive written exam. As a recipient of this award, Dr. Doray has joined an elite group in the dental community who understand that great smiles and good oral health are the result of going above and beyond basic requirements.

Commitment to excellence is not new to Dr. Doray. In 1984, she graduated first in her class from the University of Pennsylvania, School of Dental Medicine. Prior to dental school, she graduated summa cum laude from Bucknell University, majoring in Mathematics. She also received an MEd degree in from the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Doray currently maintains a private practice in Philadelphia, limited to cosmetic, implant and advanced restorative dentistry. In addition to the AGD, Dr. Doray is an accreditation candidate of the American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry. She is also a member of the Academy of Osseointegration, as well as several local study clubs. She is a faculty member with the University of Pennsylvania School of Dental Medicine and the Dental Branch of the University of Texas at Houston.
